

SOMEONE ABOVE

By: Mel Gibson

Written by: Faragher / Sandersier

See the buds unfolding on the trees
See them blossom, into leaves
Wise men know, someone above has made it so

See the daffodil and crocus there
As they bow their heads in prayer
For they know, someone above has made it so

When the raindrops fall, the flowers grow
And the rivers kiss the sea
But there'd be no rain, no river flow
If left to fools like me

Man can built his city, plant his yard
Paint a picture, call it art
But I know, someone above has made it so

When the raindrops fall, the flowers grow
And the rivers kiss the sea
But there'd be no rain, no river flow
If left to fools like me

Man can build his city, plant his yard
Paint a picture, and call it art
But I know, someone above has made it so
I know, someone above has made it so...
